Tiger seal change from blue to black

Please be aware that the seal on our Tiger instrument has now changed from blue to black. This has no implications to the product but it is a change that we would like to highlight to you.

The Tiger Service manual has now been changed to reflect this change and V1.6 is available for download from our Service Centre Portal via our website, or directly from our Service Department.

The new black sensor seal can be ordered from Ion Science, using existing part number 861214.
